Eric

I called a couple of times about the expert depositions and left a message. I have those set for tomorrow but was open to rescheduling if we could do a stip to extend the discovery cut off. I haven't heard back from you, so I have to assume you have decided not to stip to extend that deadline. Will your experts be appearing for the depositions tomorrow?

We also have the deadlines coming up for the filing of the exhibit list, status report, witness list and motions in limine. I need to meet and confer with you regarding the MILs. Are plaintiffs intending on filing any MILs?

We are fine pushing off the expert discovery until after the current board meeting. Lets discuss settlement demand later this week after the court has ruled on the ex parte.

Good morning, Eric,
Attached please find Defendants' rebuttal disclosure. The rebuttal attachment is attached separately to this email. I am working remotely and do not have access to the program to combine these documents.

I believe we discussed pushing off expert discovery until after the current board meeting, but we have not actually filed the stipulation. If you still want to extend the expert discovery until after the current board meeting let me know. As I recall, you were also going to see about getting a lower demand as the last best and final.
